Education

University of Science and Technology of China (USTC)

Hefei, China

Freshman in School of the Gifted Young

Sep. 2025 – Jun. 2029 (Expected)

GPA: 3.79/4.3

Research Interests

Applying mathematics in reconfigurable structures and metamaterials

Computing stable homotopy groups of spheres

Integrating machine learning techniques into mathematical research

Skills

Computer Languages	Python, C, LaTeX, Typst, R
Scientific Computing	Mathematica, SageMath, PARI
Modeling and Simulation	Blender, MATLAB

Undergraduate Coursework

Mathematics

- Foundations of Geometry, MATH2003, Grade: 3.7/4.3 Fall Semester 2025
Covered Euclidean, spherical and projective geometries, with focus on the role of symmetry and transformations in understanding geometric structures
- Modern Algebra, MATH3001 Spring Semester 2026
Covered group theory, ring theory, and field theory, with applications to solving polynomial equations and understanding algebraic structures

Physics

- Electromagnetism A, PHYS1004A Spring Semester 2026
Covered the fundamentals of electromagnetism, including Maxwell's equations, electromagnetic waves, and their applications in various physical systems

Computer Science

- C Computer Programming, CS1003, Grade: 3.7/4.3 Fall Semester 2025
Covered the basics of programming in C, including data types, control structures, functions, and memory management

Extracurricular Activities

Volunteer Experience

- RoboGame Oct. 2025
Volunteered to arrange the procedure of the RoboGame, a robotics competition for USTC students
